Daily Thought.
 "To live wisely and well is to serve one's generation."

CASH REGISTER HONESTY.
 Opportunity may make the thief but the absence of opportunity will not make an honest man. Ultimately, the question whether this nation is to be permanent will be settled, not by the men who are honest because there is no opportunity to be otherwise, but by the men who in the face of opportunity yet remain honest.
 If that is true, most of the legislation enacted by our legislative bodies, city, state and national, has been evolved from an unstable idea. For it is the rule that the moment we find men have proven dishonest, we straightway attempt to legislate the opportunity out of their way. If railroad managers prove dishonest in the management of their roads, we immediately run to congress asking that legislation be passed which will transfer the opportunity out of their way to another set of men, usually a government bureau. It is so with every other particular of our social and industrial whole.
 Whether government commissions and bureaus are more honest than private citizens has been abundantly proven by too numerous instances. And legislatures themselves have come in for as great condemnation for breach of trust as any set of private citizens.
 Railroad rate legislation and the like, when reduced to its essentials mean simply that as one set of men have proven dishonest, we will see whether another set, a government commission, will prove any better. And so as faults develop in our national life, instead of trying to accomplish the true purpose of legislation, which is to serve up the commandment, "Thou shalt not steal." In a form suitable to present conditions, we take the extremely indirect and ultimately inefficient plan of transferring the opportunity from private to public life.
 Not only is such a plan inefficient because our public life, being drawn from our private life can be on no higher plane of honesty than its source, but the men who need reforming, who have proven dishonest, are relegated without any effort to make them see the error of their ways and another set of men placed in their stead.
 This people, following such a course as that cannot make progress in the way it is vital that we should advance. It will be only as we deal directly with error that the spirit which will save this nation may be developed.
 The merchant who installs a cash register in his store to prevent his clerks stealing has not made them honest, if there is no opportunity to be otherwise. The nation which attempts by legislative barriers to artificially preserve honesty will never be doing making laws and the trend will be steadily toward a final fall. The men who will save this nation are not the ones who are honest because a cash register or a law prevents them being dishonest, but are the ones who in the face of raw opportunity, yet remain honest.

VACATION TIME.
 How will you spend your vacation? You should ask yourself this question, because your annual vacation will consume two weeks or a month of your life. Life is short at best. A well spent vacation is not time lost, but time gained in developed earning capacity, a refreshed mind, renewed interest, added vigor and renewed spontaneity.
 No person should use two whole weeks of his life time without forethought and deliberation; but the question often is answered by the tastes and circumstances of the individual, and the answer sometimes admits of no alternative. Are you a sportsman? Then you will hunt or fish. Have you some other hobby, which you have not the time to indulge during the business weeks. Then you will probably surrender yourself to your predilection and revel in slavery for a few fleeting days. There is the old home, and many make annual pilgrimages to the shrine of childhood, where for a fortnight they get back to first principles and free themselves from some of the superfluous incrustations of social influences. Time will come when the old home will be but a memory, and then the vacation problem will be of annual recurrence.

 The question of where to spend the vacation is answered by thousands of vacation advertisements, most of which appeal to jaded nerves that cry hopelessly for rest and quiet. Perhaps, even these can be accommodated; but a change from the usual routine, coupled with scenes and adventures, educational in their nature, that tend to stimulate the intellect and exercise the faculties, are the true elements of a vacation.
 The man who does not take time for a conscientiously arranged vacation, loses something of life that he never can make up. It is not to the invalid, who perforce must seek his health, but to the busy man, who feels no physical need of rest, this admonition is directed.

Says the Mayfield Monitor:
 Washington dispatches of this week state that suddenly and very unexpectedly Congressman Ollie James, of Kentucky, took his departure for Europe, to be absent until September. It was mighty mean of our Ollie to his himself away to "Furrin" parts, just as "Lemon's" Mayfield Messenger was about to thrust the governorship upon him, whether he would or not.
 There it goes again. This unending quarrel between the Mayfield papers has caused the schism in Kentucky Democracy and threatens to split the national organization. We hope and trust Ollie James will not carelessly allow a copy of either the Messenger or Monitor to be around in London, where it may precipitate international complications.

The Lexington Leader sharply takes to task the promoters of the Fourth of July celebration in that city, because a much advertised airship exhibition did not materialize. The Leader says the failure hurt the town, as the exhibition was the feature of the occasion and many hundreds, who went to Lexington to see the ascension, claimed they had been tricked. The excuse was given that there was not sufficient gas to inflate the bag. Evidently too much gas had been used in advertising the attraction.

Bryan says the Democratic presidential nomination is still open. He does not "intend to sit on the stool for two years." Bryan always was happy in his selection of words. A stool is "a seat without a back." In Scottish churches it is the "stool of repentance." In agriculture it is used to "weed out suckers." Bryan is no "stool pike." He wants to occupy the "chair."

In the course of a Fourth of July oration at Mt. Clare, N. J., Charles B. Landis, of Indiana, took occasion to say that our sympathies should be with the rich young man. To the credit of the American people let it be said, that most people do sympathize with rich young men, and are willing to do everything possible to relieve their condition.

Timely and apropos is this from the Louisville Times:
 "Bourgeois Cocan says he prefers riot to rottenness. Every man to his taste, but, for our part, we'll take a can of bull meat any day to a chance with a bull on the hoof in a half-acre lot."

The Idaho authorities will not let W. D. Haywood out of jail to run for governor for fear he might change his mind and run for the hills.

That chart of the heavens for July just published certainly must have been drawn the night of the Fourth.

Russia's fight for civil liberty and America's celebration of her's are equally distinguished by casualties.

Tetanus germs have begun their annual Thanksgiving celebration.

Sues for Loss of Freight.
 Will Greek today filed suit in circuit court against The Illinois Central road for $500 damages for the loss of a box of freight. The box contained glasses, bar fixtures, wines, liquors, cigars and some household effects. It was shipped out of Paducah for Harrisburg, Ill., December 1, 1905.

She: "I hate my name; it's so hard to write in the sand."
 He: "Do you think you could write mine more easily?"

DEATHS OF A DAY IN THE LOBBY

Funeral of Joe Ashoff.
 The funeral of Joe Ashoff who died on the Fourth of a complication of diseases, was held this morning at 8 o'clock from the St. Francis de Sales church, burial in Mt. Carmel cemetery.

Infant Dies.
 The infant of C. W. Fondan, of 2209 Yeiser avenue, died this morning of summer complaint and was buried at Melber, Graves cemetery.

Hot Days Beneficial.
 It is strange we never stop to realize that the hot days are good for us. They are, just as they are good for crops. Nature sends the hot days to give us a good "sweating" — if the use of the vulgar word is permissible for in this way it eliminates some of the poisons from our systems. If we would get out of doors, instead of sitting in the shady nooks, and take two or three hours in the open air with the "boiling sun" boiling us right, we would feel lots better, and be lots better.
 This is a correct theory, and is the theory that prompted the invention of the hot-air treatments I am giving with such success in my practice. When used in connection with Osteopathy it is a specific for the ailments that give us Paducahans the most trouble malaria, chills and fever and biliousness, and I can in just a few minutes show anyone suffering of these ailments why they yield so readily to the treatment. I can refer you to people you know who will attest to my statements.

If you feel drowsy, and tired; feel like you had a taut band around your head which was being drawn closer all the time; if you are suffering of indigestion of any form, a course of Osteopathic and dry hot-air treatments will bring a quick cure, and do so without the aid of anything but aids to Nature.
 My office hours are from 9 to 12 and from 2 to 5, Dr. G. B. Froage, 518 Broadway, Phone 1407.

The Germs of Consumption.
 Ever since 1882 the word "germ" when used in connection with consumption has meant a little parasite or fungus belonging to the lowest scale of vegetable life. Dr. Robert Koch discovered it and proved that it is the only cause of the disease, which in all its forms is known as tuberculosis and which in some of its forms is known as consumption. The germ is shaped like a slender, straight or slightly curved rod and is so short that it would take three thousand of them in a line to make an inch in length. It does not multiply after it has left the body except when it is planted in a special soil and kept at a special temperature, as may be done in a laboratory. It may be killed by the simplest methods, exposure to the sunshine a few hours and by boiling being the surest. Cold has no effect on it, while it may live for two years in a damp, dark place. It has other names; it is sometimes called a microbe, sometimes a bacterium and again a bacillus. It grows and multiplies but can't move itself. It is so light that it may be carried in the saliva expelled in talking or in the spittle raised in coughing.
 There are three ways by which this germ may enter the body—by being breathed into the lungs by being eaten with food and by penetration through a wound in the skin.
 When there is an enemy to fight we must know his strength and weak points, and the more intimately we become acquainted with his strength and weakness the more likely we are to become victorious.

It is the duty of every individual citizen to inform himself as to the facts concerning tuberculosis and do something toward the combat of this disease. Whether he is consumptive or lives with a consumptive or has nothing whatever to do with consumptives.

Literature for free distribution is published by the National Society for the Study, Prevention and Cure of Tuberculosis, 165 East 22d street, New York.

RICH STRIKE.
Local Men Interested in Gold Bearing Ledge.
 The Manhattan Gold Mining company, of Nevada, in which local men are interested, last week struck a ledge of gold six feet in width, which assayed upwards of $200 a ton. How great the ore body is has not yet been determined. The ledge was struck in running a cross-cut on some mammoth dykes that traverse the property. The whole district is greatly excited over the strike. The local men interested in the property are Frank L. Scott, Vaughan Scott, George H. Goodman, Oscar Hank, and R. E. Ashbrook and their interest in it is large enough to make the strike of great interest to them and Paducah. The mines of the Manhattan company are within about 90 miles of the property of the Paducah Bullfrog property, in which these gentlemen, as well as a number of Paducah people are interested. The Paducah company is sinking shafts on two prospects and has found gold assaying from 8 cents to $3.60 and has found the same conditions the other companies developed at the same stage of work.

ENFORCE LAWS
OF SANITATION IN THE POLICE COURT, SAYS JUDGE.
Merchants Who Obstruct Streets and Sidewalks Will Receive No Mercy.

"I want to state that as long as I am acting judge of the police court, or any other court having jurisdiction," Acting Judge D. A. Cross declared this morning, "I shall fine all defendants brought before me charged and proven guilty of leaving wagons or obstructions of any kind on the streets or sidewalks, or any one who has unsanitary premises. I hear complaint after complaint and there are ordinances against such violations. I shall enforce to the very letter all ordinances, especially these."
 With this Judge Cross dismissed the warrant against C. J. Clark, J. S. Putman, J. T. Wootan and the Tully Livery company for permitting baggies to obstruct the street and pavement. They had cleared the street in the meantime.
 Other cases were unimportant. Frank Potts, Allen Walters, colored; J. D. Lawrence, Will Jackson, colored; drunk, $1 and costs each; Nellie Emerson, colored, breach of ordinance, dismissed; Will Hamilton drunk and disorderly, continued; Arch Bland, colored, breach of the peace continued; William Tomlinson using insulting language, $3 and costs; Will Block, Frank Eich and Rudolph Krebs, striking a woman, continued; Dick Mitchem, colored, disorderly conduct, dismissed; Bob Ford, colored, breach of peace, continued.
